

and everything is coming together the way it was always destined. Because you are destined for greatness and anything you ever set your mind to,
you looked yourself in the mirror and said "We are going to do this."

And if people are afraid of you (let them be afraid) they should be..
Because you are
powerful beyond
containment; the kind of free people
dream of embodying.

you know: you were born from a line of fierce women on fire, who shine light in the darkest of places, and heal those in need.

Let go of anything that didn't work out
the way you wanted. Because you know this,
deep in your
heart of hearts,

And you did.
You did do it. So don't stop now.

For Girls and Women on Fire

a poem by Tanaya Winder

Because you are meant to keep all of the promises you ever made to yourself.

Everything happens for a reason and breaks you thought were heartaches was really Creator helping you dodge a massive bullet

destined for danger,
rupture, and the
darkness you crawled your way out of long ago.

So Let go.

